About the Project

The Go2Grove project is an initiative implemented under the Erasmus+ programme (Action KA220-VET) and aims at the education and integration of Ukrainian refugees through their involvement in olive cultivation and olive oil production.

The project responds to the need to find employment for refugees and at the same time to address the labour shortage in the olive growing sector in the Mediterranean EU countries.

The project objectives

- The development of an innovative vocational education and training (VET) programme to enhance the skills of Ukrainian refugees in olive cultivation and olive oil production.
- To support VET trainers by providing them with a specialised training programme to integrate refugees into the training process.
- The creation of an online platform with self-assessed quizzes in order to provide self-regulated learning opportunities.
- The piloting of the programme through practical training and work-based learning activities.
- The wide dissemination of the results and the enhancement of the impact of the project at local, national and European level.

What's up?

Our team met in the beautiful city of Badajoz, Spain, to discuss the project's works, current status, decide on any pending cases and organise future activities.

What's next?

We are currently in the process of organising our focus groups. Each partner will implement their own session in which representatives of agricultural organisations and representatives of migrant bodies will also take part.

Their input on the project's subject as well as the educational needs that will be covered via the Go2Grove Handbook will be crucial in order to produce high quality educational material.

All focus groups are scheduled to take place in March 2025 and will be followed by the production of the educational material - the Go2Grove Digital Handbook
