

Lights, Camera... Go2Grove!

The Go2Grove partnership has officially entered the production phase of the Go2Grove Video Collections!

Following the successful completion of the Digital Handbook, partners are now working on the development of two comprehensive video collections, designed to complement the training material and provide visual, practice-oriented learning opportunities.

The video collections will include:

- 6 educational videos on olive cultivation, covering topics such as planting, irrigation systems, fertilization methods, mulching techniques and sustainable orchard management.
- 6 educational videos on olive oil production, focusing on harvesting techniques, transportation, milling processes, extraction methods, storage conditions, packaging and quality standards.

These videos aim to support Ukrainian refugees and VET learners by offering accessible, easy-to-follow explanations of each stage of the olive oil value chain – from grove to bottle.

Through real-life examples, field footage and expert insights, the Go2Grove videos will enhance understanding of agricultural practices while strengthening employability skills in the Mediterranean olive oil sector.

Behind the Scenes

Partners across Spain, Greece and Italy are collaborating closely with olive oil producers, agricultural experts and VET trainers to ensure that the content is accurate, practical and aligned with labour market needs.

The filming process includes:

- On-site visits to olive groves
- Demonstrations of cultivation techniques
- Recording of production stages in mills
- Expert commentary on best practices and sustainability

The objective is to transform technical knowledge into engaging and inclusive learning material tailored to adult learners and newcomers to the sector.

What's next? Go2Grove TPM in Heraklion, Crete

The consortium is preparing for its upcoming Transnational Project Meeting in Heraklion, Crete.

During this meeting, partners will:

- Review the progress of the video production
- Ensure pedagogical alignment across all materials
- Coordinate the integration of videos into the Go2Grove digital platform
- Plan the next phase of piloting and testing activities

Heraklion, a region deeply connected to olive cultivation and olive oil excellence, provides the ideal setting for the next strategic step of the project.

Stay tuned for more updates from Crete!
